NorthPark Center presents Spring at the Park
May 8 – 22, 2017

Dallas, TX – Thursday, April 6, 2017 – NorthPark Center, Dallas’ finest shopping experience, is pleased to announce the inaugural Spring at the Park Home and Garden Show May 8 – 22, 2017, presented by TreeHouse in partnership with D Home Magazine and The Dallas Morning News. Throughout the month, NorthPark brings inspiration to its visitors through botanical landscapes by the shopping center’s award-winning landscape designers as well as outside vendors including Archiverde, Ruibal’s, Southern Botanical, Texas Discovery Gardens, and others. Additionally, visitors have the opportunity to enjoy fashion-focused garden parties, special exhibitions, home and floral demonstrations, and much more. NorthPark’s extraordinary exterior and interior landscapes create a welcoming environment that is enjoyed by more than 26 million visitors each year. For publicity images, please view our Spring at the Park Dropbox.

HOME & LANDSCAPE VIGNETTES | NorthPark transforms into a lush landscape with inspirational home displays during the month of May.

TreeHouse Sustainable Home of the Future
EastCourt | Through May 31
TreeHouse, Spring at the Park’s Presenting Sponsor, unveils its first ever Sustainable Home of the Future, constructed with leading eco-friendly and sustainable materials and products. The installation incorporates native and adaptive landscaping, using a variety of locally-sourced plant species that are drought-tolerant and naturally adapted to local climates. TreeHouse is a forward-thinking home improvement retailer focused on bringing progressive products, great design, and leading edge technology together under one roof. The first TreeHouse in Dallas will open June 2017 at Walnut Hill and Central Expressway.

Featured Botanical Landscapes
Throughout NorthPark | May 8 – 22
View beautiful plantings and landscape displays throughout the shopping center curated by Dallas’ premier landscape designers, nurseries and florists, and learn about NorthPark’s award-winning seasonal floral displays through educational signage and featured photography.

They partner with clients to create vibrant places that are at once ecologically resilient, aesthetically compelling and socially beneficial. Design Within Reach, which exists to make authentic modern design accessible, complements SWA’s vibrant landscape with a design lounge.

NorthPark Center – Throughout
Inside and out, the landscaping at NorthPark changes each season with a vast array of color and texture. Vivid seasonal plantings and mature live oaks and red oaks greet visitors at each entrance. A unique 1.4-acre CenterPark Garden is an urban retreat, providing a beautiful place to relax and dine amid museum-quality sculpture, artful plantings, canopies of trees and a lush expanse of lawn.

Texas Discovery Gardens presented by Car Wrap City
Dillard’s Court | May 8 – 22
Texas Discovery Gardens, a 7.5-acre organic botanical garden featuring native and adapted plants at Dallas’ Fair Park, presents a spectacular butterfly-themed display in Dillard’s Court. This planting will be a nod to the Butterfly House and Insectarium. All coins tossed into the Dillard’s Fountain during Spring at the Park will be donated back to this worthy nonprofit. In addition, sponsor Car Wrap City showcases a luxury vehicle wrapped in eye-catching, garden-themed vinyl in partnership with Texas Discovery Gardens.

To Mom with Love: Mother’s Day Floral Design Showcase
Level One between Neiman Marcus and Dillard’s | May 12 – 14
View a Mother’s Day-inspired floral design showcase by Dallas’ most talented florists. Each creation features spring’s most impressive blooms and greenery. Additionally, find the perfect gift for mom at NorthPark’s many retailers offering shopping incentives throughout the weekend, as well as pop-up musical entertainment. At the close of the weekend, the displayed bouquets will be delivered to mothers of patients at Children’s Medical Center by charity Dec My Room.
SPECIAL EXHIBITIONS | Capture the essence of nature through artistic exhibitions and installations.

Reimagining the Kimono presented by the UNT Texas Fashion Collection
Level One between Neiman Marcus and Dillard’s | May 1 – June 27
This special exhibition explores the ways in which the kimono has inspired designers through its form, fabric, and floral motifs. Late 20th century Japanese wedding kimonos, known as uchikake, represent the traditional garment with a bold use of color and pattern. Created by the first and only Asian couturier in the history of French haute couture, selections of silk chiffon gowns by Hanae Mori offer modern interpretations of Japanese iconography and the iconic form of the kimono. Historic designs by Oscar de la Renta, Cristóbal Balenciaga, Pauline Trigere, and Karl Lagerfeld for Chloé, among others, offer high-fashion examples of the multiple ways in which the kimono has inspired American and European designers. The Texas Fashion Collection is a unique repository documenting high fashion and style. Operating under the auspices of the College of Visual Arts and Design, the collection is one of the most acclaimed educational resources at the University of North Texas in Denton.

Blue Skies, Photographs by Geof Kerns presented by Neiman Marcus
Neiman Marcus Court | May 7 – 31
Neiman Marcus’ spring campaign comes to life through a special fashion and flora photography exhibition by Geof Kern. Stunning Neiman Marcus fashions are photographed alongside vignettes of pink roses and tropical greenery, all brought to life in front of the Neiman Marcus NorthPark. Kern’s career spans four decades, and he is a recipient of numerous awards including the peer-nominated Infinity Award in Applied Photography from the International Center of Photography in New York. His work can be seen at the Musée des Arts Décoratifs Paris and the Museum of Fine Arts, Houston.

Connecting with the Trinity Photography Contest Display
Level One between Neiman Marcus and Dillard’s | May 8 – 22
The annual Trinity River Photo Contest showcases the talents of youth, amateur and professional photographers. As the seasons change along the banks of the river, these photographers have captured images that connect Dallas and the Trinity River Corridor in a new way. The river is a wonderful natural resource in the heart of Dallas, featuring the largest bottom-land hardwood forest in the United States and a vast downtown greenway.

Trinity Park Project Model and Plantings
Level One between Neiman Marcus and Dillard’s | May 8 – 22
For more than a decade, the Trinity Park Conservancy - formerly The Trinity Trust Foundation - has advocated Dallas’ Trinity River Corridor Project and the Balanced Vision Plan by bringing awareness to the public, raising private funds and championing urban design for the city's largest public green space. Projects have included the Margaret Hunt Hill Bridge, Margaret McDermott Bridge and Ronald Kirk Bridge; the Dallas CityDesign Studio; and trails in the Great Trinity Forest. In 2016, the Conservancy received a $50 million gift from Annette Simmons for the Trinity River Park as part of Dallas’ Balanced Vision Plan and the larger corridor project. The Conservancy will be responsible for the fundraising, education, design and development of the park. Visitors have the opportunity to view the Trinity River Park model - featuring native plants and a naturalized river - which displays more than 200 acres of green space in the heart of the city.

Flower Power, curated by Alison V. Smith
Level One between Burberry and Louis Vuitton | May 10 – June 5
Flower Power is an exhibition curated by photographer Allison V. Smith that explores the varied natural beauty of Texas, including artists Leigh Merill, Susi Brister, and others. Flower Power offers a distinct and fresh look at work by Texas artists, examining the natural landscape that surrounds them. The exhibition will include photographs that encourage the NorthPark visitor to pause for a moment and reflect on the beauty of our state. Smith worked as a photojournalist for seven newspapers over 15 years, after graduating from Southern Methodist University with a degree in journalism. In 2004, Smith left the Dallas Morning News to pursue freelance photography for editorial clients and fine art photography. Some of Allison’s clients include: Texas Monthly, The New York Times, Al Jazeera America, Nasher Sculpture Center and Le Monde Magazine. Her fine art projects include exploring the landscape and personality of Marfa, Texas, and Rockport, Maine. Smith is in the permanent collection at the Modern Art Museum of Fort Worth, Dallas Museum of Art and Museum of Fine Arts, Houston. She is represented by the Barry Whistler Gallery in Dallas and Hiram Butler Gallery in Houston. In addition to photography, Smith and her mother published a book of Stanley Marcus’s photography in 2008 called Reflection of a Man.
On View: Flowers, Andy Warhol
Level One above Williams-Sonoma and Tiffany & Co. | Ongoing
In conjunction with Spring at the Park, NorthPark is pleased to place on view Andi Warhol’s Flower Series. Warhol produced his first Flowers series based on a photo spread of hibiscus flowers by Patricia Caulfield in the June 1964 issue of Modern Photography magazine. To produce that series, the artist used a combination of techniques – appropriating the image, cropping it, enhancing the colors, then utilizing silkscreen, acrylics, Day-Glo paint, and pencil. Each canvas is a perfect square, freeing the works from having a set orientation, and thus allowing them to be installed various different ways. Warhol’s 1970 Flowers portfolio, on view, is based on the same hibiscus photos; however, he explored new color combinations and worked strictly using the silkscreen technique.

On View: Intermodal Elevation, Liam Gillick
Level One between Macy’s and Dillard’s | Ongoing
Intermodal Elevation is emblematic of artist Liam Gillick’s interest in both industry and architecture. “Intermodal” is defined as the movement of cargo by several different modes of transportation wherein each mode has a different carrier and contract – a very specific and niche aspect of our industrial infrastructure. “Elevation” refers to the architectural term used to describe a drawing or diagram of buildings or other structures when projected on a vertical plane. With this in mind, one’s visual experience with Intermodal Elevation changes – the work departs from the abstract realm and begins to suggest and signify. The variety of bright colors catches the viewer’s eye in its current position between Starbucks and Victoria’s Secret.

On View: Untitled, Michael Dean
Level One near EastCourt | Ongoing
The heights of Dean’s work correspond to the limits of the artist’s own body or the those of his wife and two sons. Untitled implicates a language of the body. The closed hands can tell us many things: it can indicate grasping and holding; held up, back of the fist facing out, it can designate a threat or defense; held aloft, closed palm forward, it can denote solidarity or defiance. In Untitled, these appendages suggest organic growths, like buds or flowers, or as Dean calls them, “roots or shoots,” the points at which an organism’s cells differentiate and new growth occurs, a process that also has a personal analogy in the growth of his family. That the artist uses not generic hands, but his own and his family’s, suggests a personal and intimate connection with language and meaning.

SPRING AT THE PARK EVENTS | Celebrate the season with philanthropic and retail events throughout the month.

Room to Grow Style Show and Luncheon benefiting Dec My Room (Ticketed Event)
Tuesday, May 9, 11AM
